U. S. Coast Guard Rio Vista Station: The speaker will discuss safety issues facing persons enjoying the beautiful inland waterways of the California Delta. The program will be geared to please the younger members of the audience.

Al Medvitz: Al is a local farmer from the Montezuma Hills. He is a retired professor of physical science and will share his love of astronomy and the sky. He'll present a series of talks about observing the sky and identifying and understanding some of its wonders. Small telescopes will be available to get a better look at the moon, Jupiter, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Carol Jensen: Carol is the author of the Arcadia book, "The California Delta" and she is the floating historian for the Delta Discovery Cruises out of Pittsburg. She will give a presentation of the Delta.

Phil Pezzaglia: Phil is the ultimate historian of all things Rio Vista and the Delta. Phil is curator of the Rio Vista Museum and is full of wonderful stories about the founding and history of the area. He has access to a huge collection of historic images of early life in the area and is the author of the Arcadia book "Rio Vista."

Mary Jean "Corky" Quirk: Also known as "The Bat Lady," Corky will dispell myths about bats and show how important bats are to nature. She will begin with a presentation about bats, and teach us many interesting and exciting facts about these small mammals. She will then show a movie about bats, and we will view some bats she will bring with her.

Jan Vick: Jan is a local photographer, having spent a number of years with her husband living on a sailboat and capturing the glorious sunsets, waterways and some wildlife of the Delta. Jan will show a presentation on the Delta and why it is special. She will also have some animal skins and discuss the various animals that are seldom seen but plentiful in the area.
